VICE PRESIDENT IS ASTONISHED BY OUR CORN

Good as Indians Can Do, He Says, After Seeing Products Exhibit at the Commercial Club Yesterday Afternoon.

An event not upon the schedule for Vice President Marshall's brief visit to Senator Barth yesterday was a visit to the Commercial club, the vice president calling at the club for a short while to return the call of the club's official reception committee. The club was especially decorated in anticipation of the visit and President Carr and members of the board of directors received Mr. Marshall, showing him through the building and finally through the state exhibits exhibited on the first floor. The vice president was especially interested in the wood exhibit. He told the club man that he was interested in a wooden manufacturing business. When he came to the nineteen-foot corn from San Miguel county the vice president stopped and exclaimed at its size. "It's as good as we could do in Illinois," he declared.

MAJ. BURKE GROWS ENTHUSIASTIC ON ALBUQUERQUE

Best Efforts of Lucullus' Chefs More Blunders Compared to Commercial Club Banquet, He Says.

Major John M. Burke, of the Self-Photo circus, is not only a good press agent, but a great citizen. Major Burke was a guest at the recent Commercial club banquet, and he tells the rest all about it in this week's issue of "The Great Divide," the Denver Post's weekly development journal, in the following:

By Major J. M. Burke
Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 20.—The Albuquerque Commercial club banquet last night was a notable one in the number of active residential farmers, ranchmen, miners and business men of New Mexico assembled to celebrate the success of the last few years' campaign of intensive methods of developing this section of the great southwest.

Three hundred plates were replenished from a varied menu of edibles new, raised and "made in New Mexico" and bore striking evidence of the varied soils forming the valleys, the mesas, plateaus, foothills and mountain ranges of this state, once thought only a pastoral, mineral and health resort country.

The well arranged exhibits and the bill of fare of this effectively instructed affair were under the auspices of a committee of workers in this garden of diversity on the old Santa Fe trail, headed by Captain Clark Carr. His father, Gen. Eugene A. Carr, famed veteran of Indian and of the Civil war, trailed over this territory in the fifties a few years after its annexation from old Mexico. He was charmed by its climate and being impressed by its future value bought up many thousands of acres and lived to see its commercial success.

A most striking feature was the astonishing number of different grains, fruits, vegetables and products in general to which this soil is adapted.

Nineteen-foot corn stalks with correspondingly large ears of the yellow grain, "macaroni wheat," oats, rye, kafir, timothy, clover, alfalfa raised alongside of cotton, peanuts, two and three-round baking apples, colossal beets, onions, squash, turnips, tree fruits from pecans to English walnuts and such like of products were in evidence.

The menu from soup to nuts—from game, meats and domestic fowl to chili, con carne—made up a home feast of Luciferian variety yet a typical New Mexico menu. An expressive fact is that the famed Alvarado hotel and the Harvey houses on the sunset trail of rail and auto from ocean to ocean is largely supplied from this beautiful market.

It is noted that the Self-Photo circus for a decade has either opened or closed its season, as they open more earlier and close later than any other transportation center on the American continent. They did so right before last for which Albuquerqueans took pride, and exclaimed at its size. "It's as good as we could do in Illinois," he declared.

TUBERCULOSIS IS CAUSE OF THIRD OF AID CASES IN TOWN

White Plague and Unemployment Account for More Than Fifty Per Cent of the Calls for Charity.

DETAILED REPORT OF CIVIC LEAGUE WORK

During Eight Months Albuquerque's First Organized Aid Association Has Helped 399 Unfortunate.

Almost a third of the cases of distress in this city are caused by tuberculosis. Add the unemployed to the tuberculous and more than fifty per cent of the cases requiring aid in this city are accounted for insofar as the primary cause goes.

The figures are taken from the detailed report of the work done by the charity department of the Civic Betterment League during the eight months ending October 31, presented by Secretary Reed at the annual meeting of the league last night. In his preliminary paragraphs, Secretary Reed said in part:

"In submitting the report of the work accomplished it is possible to give only a few statistics that may be suggestive of the many hours of earnest and thoughtful endeavor used to solve the many problems of human need that have arisen. The human element is left out but I assure you that back of these figures there is the long procession of families and individuals who have represented almost every phase of human need. Nearly the entire gamut of emotion has been rung; anger and pity, laughter and tears, gratitude and thanklessness."

During the eight months, the cases involving a total of 399 individuals children under fourteen years of age to the number of 138 needed relief and the adults numbered 257. Fifteen children over fourteen years of age were part of the cases. One hundred and twenty of the cases were transient. The causes of distress are listed as follows:

Old age	1
Tuberculosis	62
Sickness	24
Unemployment	47
Miscellaneous	4

Relief was offered as follows:

Food	1,533
Medals	197
Veterans	29
Transportation (since Aug. 13)	2,044.29

During October, six individuals sought employment but no other aid.

Of the light colored maintained by the league and the work of the nutrition and visiting nurse, Secretary Reed reported:

Tent Colony.

"Since the N.M.-Seurian Benevolent society home was taken over by the league it has been enlarged and now has a capacity of ten rooms. There are twelve people now in residence.

The colony has been put in the shape by Mrs. Sweet who was brought here by the directors to be matron and visiting nurse. It is the intention of the directors to use the colony as a place where persons unable to care for themselves can be cared for while waiting a satisfactory disposition of their cases. There are, however, a few old people who are more or less permanent.

The colony has been of very great value in the work of the league and is especially so now that it is in so good hands as Mrs. Sweet's.

Visiting Nurse.

"When Mrs. Sweet came to take up the work of matron it was expected that she would take up also the work of visiting nurse as the way might open for the work. On account of the great amount of work at the colony it has been necessary to go slowly in this matter. From time to time Mrs. Sweet has been called on to go out and the opportunities are multiplying so that every day there are calls for her services. The service she has rendered has been of signal value.

"It is intended that in this work those served shall pay such fees as they may be able. During the month of October the nurse earned about $200 in this way. It is understood that her services as those of the secretary are free to all who are unable to give otherwise. There is a bright prospect that this branch of our work will become of great value to our city where there are so many sick without being much extra expense."

The league's income and expenditure for rents during the eight months ending October 31 were as follows: the income and the total debt of course include the contributions made during the present campaign, which totals place in November.

Two committees canvassed the city today with membership tickets of the New Mexico Educational association. This afternoon the committee heads reported that their hard work had been successful. More than 200 tickets were sold.

The committee is aiming to sell 1,000 tickets, and, encouraged by today's results, they will probably continue the canvass with increased vigor during the rest of the week.
